

Population Reference Bureau, MEASURE Communication Project Recent and Forthcoming Publications

March 2003

The MEASURE Communication Project disseminates policy-relevant information on population and health-related topics to policymakers, program managers, and opinion leaders worldwide. Most reports use data and research from different countries and regions, drawing comparisons and highlighting lessons learned. We make use of data collected by our MEASURE partners as well as research from many other sources.

Contact: Nancy Yinger, Director of International Programs, nyinger@prb.org

New publications in 2003:

Unmet Need for Family Planning: Recent Trends and Their Implications for Programs (policy brief)

Women's Reproductive Health in the Middle East and North Africa (policy brief, Ford Foundation)

Forthcoming in 2003:

Women, Health, and Development in the Americas (data sheet, in collab. with PAHO)

Improving the Quality of Reproductive Health Care for Young People (policy brief, in collaboration with Population Council)

Quality of Reproductive Health Care: How Much Does it Cost? (tentative title, policy brief, in collaboration with Population Council)

Health Sector Reform: How it Affects Reproductive Health (policy brief, in collaboration with PHRplus)

Changing Youth Behavior Through Social Marketing (report, in collaboration with PSI, Gates Foundation)

Why Invest in Newborn Health? (policy brief, in collaboration with Saving Newborn Lives)

- plus 3 more briefs:     Reviewing the evidence on how to improve newborn health
                              Strategies for essential newborn care
                              Community mobilization for newborn care

The Nutrition of Women and Girls: Why it Matters (policy brief)

Maternal Mortality in Egypt (policy brief; Ford Foundation)

Connecting People to Useful Information: Guidelines for Effective Data Presentation (guide plus CD-ROM)

Improving the Health of the Poor (report)